

Dear Erin Gleason Lane,

Dear Erin Gleason Lane,

I hope you are well, in these crazy days.

Please be so kind to look at the two graphics I sent, about the ten technologies, I'll send the accompanying description in a few days.

For now, I'd like you to zoom into Technology 7. S-RES because it is a monopoly equation well suited for Peter's team.

My apologies for the timing, I wanted to introduce myself to you and Founders Fund before the election, I did not wish you guys to think I chose Founders Fund because Peter is connected with the president. Peter is my first choice, because of his book Zero to One. My work is also monopolistic, and he and his team are the best people to review it. Please see attached or online; www.supereconomics.ai/S-RES--Monopoly-Equation-for-Erin-Gleason-Lane.pdf

Note also, I wish to discuss the advantages of programming the next stage of software development on Palantir, and indeed Founders Fund providing the engineers, systems architects etc. I am working on a detailed spec, that will appear in the newest book on S-RES; Supereconomics Book 2. S-RES Financial Engineering. Which is a presentation I wish you to receive on the 24th Nov.

For now, I just wanted to say hello, and confirm an address for me to send some background material. In the form of several books written between 2011 and 2020. Please see attached or online www.supereconomics.ai/S-World-Books-for-Founders-Fund.pdf. I wish to send a selection of the highlighted books, I don't expect anyone to read them, they are there for reference in Skype meetings and the like, and to show that there are history and detail.

This work is macroeconomics, so you are going to see some figures that are bigger than usual, but the math is good, and the forthcoming book (Supereconomics 2) answers about 100 potential objections. I will send this to you on the 24th of Nov.

A note on the website; www.Supereconomics.ai this will only be correctly presented on the 24th Nov.

I hope you have a wonderful day, and hope after the dust of the election has settled we can pencil in a skype call, or if you have any questions, just fire away on email if you prefer.
